

Amnesty, inflation eyed at news meet

Ford's presidential press debut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is boning up for his first full-scale news conference as chief executive.

The half-hour session beginning at 2:30 p.m. EDT today in the East Room of the White House is to be carried live on television and radio.

Press Secretary Jerald F. terHorst said Ford held "bull sessions" in his Oval Office on Tuesday afternoon with close advisers to get ready for the news conference. More sessions were scheduled this morning.

A veteran of 55 news conferences as vice president, Ford was described by his staff as unworried about today's meeting with reporters.

When he came to office, Ford promised to hold more frequent sessions with the press than his predecessor, Richard M. Nixon, who held 38 news conferences in 5½ years. Ford's first major news conference comes on his 19th day in office.

There hasn't been such a session in five months, since Nixon's last East Room news conference March 6 during the Watergate scandal.

Like presidents before him, Ford received scores of questions prepared by his staff on issues that might be raised.

One aide said they included such items as how Ford will deal with amnesty for Vietnam veterans and for Nixon; what role he has in mind for Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller, what changes he'll make in the White House and cabinet, and what's ahead for the economy.

Ford will have a new taller, but slimmer podium and a new arrangement in the East Room for the occasion. Unlike Nixon, Ford has ruled out wearing any makeup before the live television cameras.

Instead of appearing with a blue backdrop behind him on the east side of the East Room as Nixon did, Ford will move to the opposite side of the big ballroom with his back to the entrance door.

Instead of the studio effect the backdrop gave, aides feel the new setup will give television viewers the feeling that the President is really in the White House. Behind him, they will get a view through the doorway into the long red-carpeted cross hall of the White House.

Ford also met on Tuesday with economic advisers, who presented him with several proposals for aiding the faltering housing market.

James T. Lynn, secretary of housing and urban development, indicated that Ford might act before next month's summit conference on the economy. The housing industry is one of the sectors hardest hit by inflation and economic stagnation.

Federal law clouds Buckeye 300 drawing

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Eight Ohioans prepared to compete for the $300,000 grand prize in the first Buckeye 300 drawing of the Ohio Lottery, while legal questions were raised in Cincinnati, Maine and Washington, D.C., about whether the 13 state lotteries violated federal law.

The eight were $15,000 winners last Thursday in the first drawing of the Ohio Lottery. The Buckeye 300 drawing was to be held Thursday morning on the capitol steps in Columbus.

The U.S. attorney here was to receive in about two weeks the results of a U.S. Post Office investigation of whether the Ohio lottery violates postal regulations, a Cincinnati postal official said Tuesday.

In Maine, federal prosecutor Peter Mills indicated he would pursue his probe of lotteries in view of a 1968 federal banking statute prohibiting banks with federal connections from collecting lottery tickets. Most state lottery systems use banks as repositories.

And in Washington, the Justice Department also announced it was examining lottery operations across the country to see whether federal law was being broken.

R.V. Murray, supervisor of postal inspectors in Cincinnati, said an agent had been assigned to the lottery office after a complaint was made within the state. He did not know where the complaint originated.

He said the law prohibits using the mail in any way in connection with a lottery. Most state lotteries use the mail to transmit information.

Steven Parisi, attorney for the lottery commission, and John Kirkland, the commission executive director, said they had not discussed an investigation with an agent.

Kirkland said the lottery's advertising agency mailed ad copy to newspapers, but the copy was stamped with a warning about laws prohibiting transporting lottery material across state lines or mailing lottery information.

New releases are handled by telephone, he said. Tickets are hand carried to banks, and lottery winners receive their checks at drawings, he added.

The 63-year-old Maine prosecutor said he began investigating his state's lottery after receiving complaints from three newspapers.

Fairgoers keep tight clutch on cash despite attendance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— While Ohioans are attending the 1974 State Fair in record numbers, many apparently are keeping a tight grip on their pocketbooks.

Families are bringing along picnic lunches, pricing food items at different stalls and taking advantage of free attractions, such as the grandstand show, kiddieland and circus.

Fair officials reported Tuesday's attendance was 180,528, compared with 158,083 the same day last year. That brought total attendance so far this year to 1,201,638, to put it about 55,000 ahead of the record 1973 pace.

Free exhibits at the exposition appear to be drawing large crowds.

Virginia Blauvelt of Hamilton, Ohio, is drawing a lot of attention from fairgoers who want to learn the secrets of recycling wardrobes.

She speaks twice daily at the Arts and Crafts Building and displays a hostess skirt made from a drum table cover, blouses made from dresses "I had worn out," and shoes and purses she covered and coordinated.

In the same building, Kathleen Strawhacker, a consumer information specialist for a wax company, demonstrates refinishing and care of furniture.

Miss Strawhacker also is gaining fairgoers' attention with her "Family fishing" demonstrations.

"Besides a source of recreation, fishing can be very helpful economically," she said. She added that her audience includes a lot of women "because more and more women are fishing today."

Concessionaires at the fair said they are feeling the economic pinch of increased cost in material, shipping and food, though most said they've been able to keep prices in accord with last year.

A Gooding Amusement Co. spokesman said the company tried to raise the price of some rides to 90 cents and $1, but "people won't ride them." However, the price of the 35 cent rides was raised by a nickel this year he said.

He said that "Kiddieland" at the south end of the fairgrounds offers free rides to children under 12, and between 9 a.m. and noon, large ride prices are cut nearly in half.

Liza Minelli was to present two grandstand shows today.

Sheep shows, harness racing, style shows and performances by various fair choirs also were on the agenda.

Nebraska man replaces Marti

Redman plant names new manager

Redman Industries, Inc., has appointed a new general manager to head the mobile home plant here.

John K. Douros, a native of Greece, was transferred from a Redman Industries plant in Nebraska to head the operation in Washington C.H.

After the dismissal of the former manager, Jack Marti, July 26, Jim Rooks, a materials manager served as interim manager for nearly two weeks before Douros was selected for the top spot.

THE MANAGERIAL change came at a crucial time for Redman. The plant is currently in the midst of building a modular school system for tornado-torn Xenia. The project is behind schedule reportedly due to the problems at Redman and difficulties with the foundations on which the mobile home type modulars are being erected. The construction of the foundations had been subcontracted.

Marti, 512 Columbus Ave., assumed the managerial position at the Redman Industries plant here in 1972 after serving in the same capacity at an Alma, Mich., plant.

He believes firmly that when a plant is not functioning effectively there is only one person to blame — the general manager. "Redman is an excellent corporation; it has good personnel and it backs its management," Douros continued, "so the head man has to either cut the mustard, or get out.

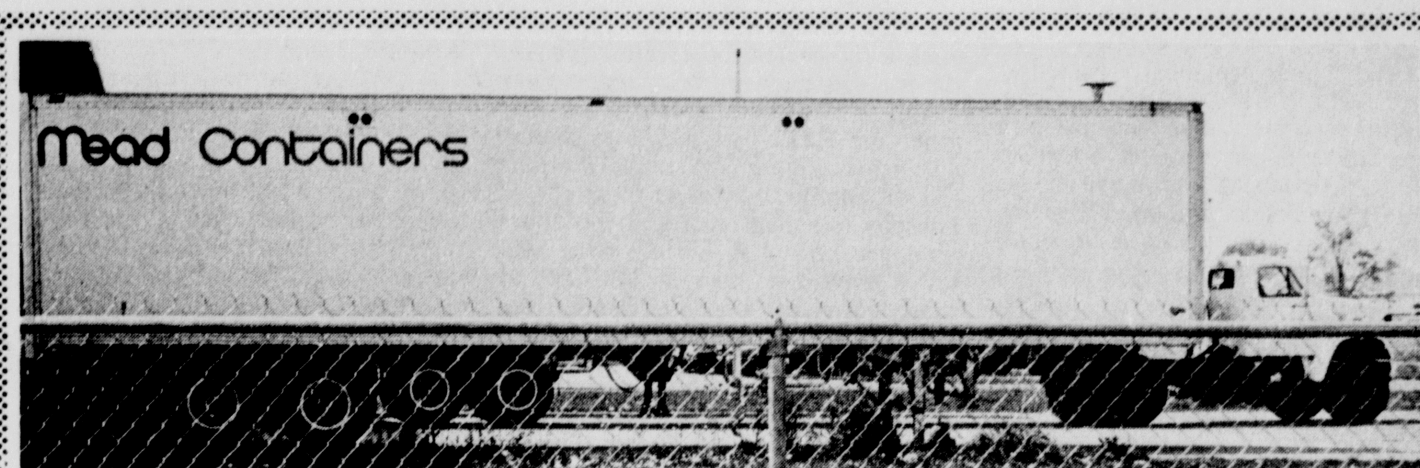

JOHN K. DOUROS

There is no sense blaming anyone else."

Douros said that he is aware the turnover of managers at the Washington C.H. plant has been rather high, but added that he sees this as a positive factor for the company.

Most of the managers who left here, he said, were on amicable terms with the company, including several who were promoted within the firm. Douros said, "If I remain in this post for more than three years, I will have failed," he

New Cor Tec plant ending second week

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Editor

Cor Tec, Inc., the latest tenant in the city's Industrial Park, is not only Washington C.H.'s newest industry, but it is also of the most unique in the nation.

The new Cor Tec, Inc., plant, which is completing its second week of production here, manufactures fiberglass reinforced plywood panels which are used in the construction of semi truck vans and overseas shipping containers.

THE FIBERGLASS reinforced plywood panels, which are used as the sides, tops and ends of semi truck trailers and overseas shipping containers, are produced by only two other companies in the nation besides the Cor Tec, Inc., operations in Washington C. H. and Auburn, Wash.

Company officials said the fiberglass allows the production of larger panels, increases strength by five times and stiffness by 60 per cent.

The new industry is situated in a 60,000-square foot metal factory building and a 2,400-square foot masonry office building on Kenskill Avenue, just east of the Mead Containers plant.

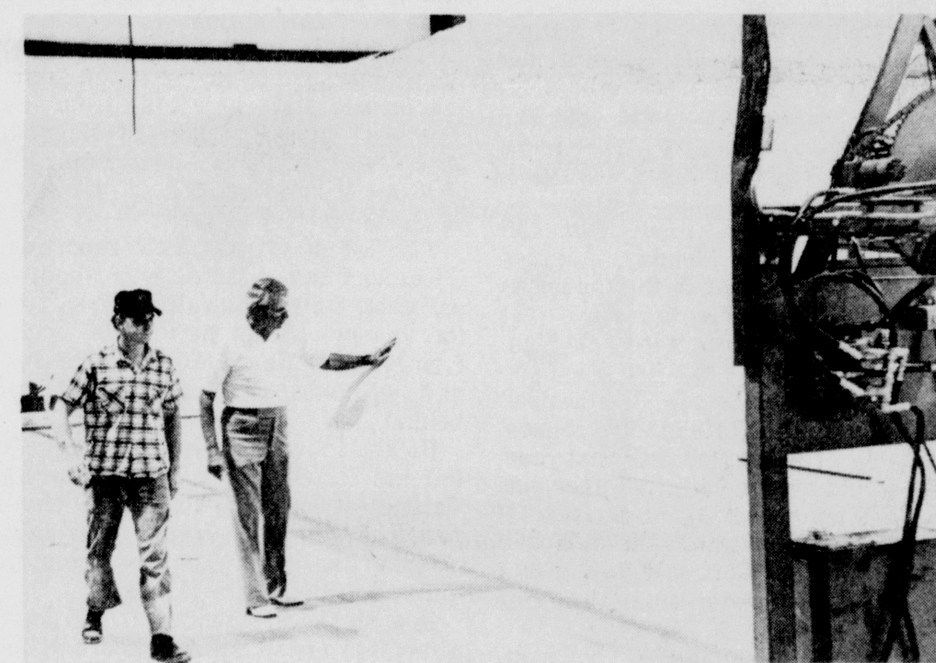

The metal building, housing the production portion of the new industry, was manufactured by the Armco Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant in Washington C.H. The Great Oaks Construction Co., of Washington C.H., was the general contractor for the new industrial structure and Modern Sales and Construction Co., of Wilmington, erected the building.

Although operations were launched here Aug. 21, minor projects are being completed on the building. Hill Electric Co., of Washington C.H., a sub-

Huge rail wage demands slated

CHICAGO (AP) — Despite President Ford's hopes to jawbone wage and price increases, the United Transportation Union says it will seek wage hikes totaling 35 per cent in fall negotiations.

Al H. Chesser, president of the 250,000-member rail union, told a news conference on Tuesday that the group wants a 20 per cent hike in 1975 and 15 per cent more in 1976.

"Ford's request for (wage) restraint comes at a time that makes it most difficult," Chesser said. "We've had to live with this inflation."

Chesser criticized what he called enormous corporate profits and hikes in consumer prices such as General Motors' average increase of $416 for 1975 model cars.

"If we're going to hold down on the prices of consumer goods, that's something else," he said.

The United Transportation Union represents railroad operating personnel whose annual salaries range from $10,000 to $15,000. Negotiations on a new contract are to begin in Washington next month. The current two-year contract expires Dec. 31.

The Brotherhood of Railway, Airline & Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express & Station Employees will seek a similar wage settlement, Chesser said. The two unions represent most U.S. rail employees.

Chesser also said the federal Department of Transportation is not properly enforcing railway safety regulations.

He warned that unless safety problems are resolved, he would not rule out strike action.

He said the two biggest safety problems facing the railroads are bad trackage and faulty tank cars.

Turks nix Soviet plan for Cyprus

By The Associated Press

Turkey has rejected the Soviet proposal for an 18-nation conference on the future of Cyprus.

Meanwhile, the Greek Cypriot government asked for a United Nations Security Council meeting to discuss the plight of the 200,000 Greek Cypriots reported driven from their homes by the conquest of the northern third of the island.

Foreign Minister Turan Gunes told the Soviet ambassador to Turkey that the proposed parley — which would include the 15 members of the Security Council plus Greece, Turkey and Cyprus — might set a precedent for unwarranted Security Council interference. It also might prolong negotiations, Gunes added.

Gunes reiterated his government's position that the future of Cyprus must be decided in negotiations between the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities along with Turkey, Greece and Britain, the guarantors of Cypriot independence under the island's 1960 independence treaty.

In Washington, Turkish Ambassador Nuri Eren accused Moscow of trying to prevent a solution to the Cyprus problem and create chaos in Greece. He asserted that Greece also does not like the Soviet proposal, although the Greek government has accepted it formally.

Both eastbound and westbound traffic will be re-routed over Leesburg Avenue and Draper Street. Approval from the Ohio Department of Transportation was required before the street could be temporarily

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Ruth A. Richards

Services for Mrs. Ruth Ann Richards, 88, formerly of the Quiet Acres Nursing Home, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Jerri Bongardner officiating. Mrs. Richards, the widow of Levi Richards, died at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in Circleville Manor Nursing Home where she had been a patient for four weeks.

Mrs. Richards previously resided at Quiet Acres Nursing Home, Palmer Rd., for six years. She had been in failing health for six months. A former Wright Patterson AFB employee, and a cook at Eber School and other Fayette County schools, she was a member of the Church of God.

Surviving is a son, Cecil L. Richards, Salem, Ore.; two sisters, Mrs. Martha Houseman, of Sabina, and Mrs. Ada Bennett, of Washington C. H.; four grandsons and several great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at the funeral home from noon until 9 p.m. Thursday. Burial will be in the Milledgeville-Plymouth Cemetery.

SEELE HENRY — Services for Seele Henry, 93, of 436 S. Fayette St., were held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, Washington C. H., with the Rev. Jean Creamer officiating. Mr. Henry died Saturday.

Born in Pike County, Mr. Henry moved to Washington C. H. in 1935 from Ross County, and was a retired farmer. Pallbearers for the burial in Washington Cemetery were David Bailey, and Pat, Ricky, Steve, Tom and Don Henry.

LEO WRIGHT — Services for Leo Wright, 56, formerly of 309 S. North St., were held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Parrett Funeral Home with the Rev. Clarence Timberman, of Dayton, officiating. Mr. Wright, a former restaurant worker, died Saturday.

Two hymns were sung by Mrs. Bertha Hahn, accompanied by her daughter, Charlotte, at the piano. Pallbearers for the burial in Grape Grove Cemetery, near Jeffersonville, were Robert Fugate, Sid Woodrow and Gerald, Randy, Isaac and Pearl Merriman.

Burger hears Watergate arguments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger is considering arguments of former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman and Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski over whether to postpone the Watergate cover-up trial.

Jaworski's reply, filed with the Supreme Court on Monday, disputes Ehrlichman's contention that he needs more time to study evidence and that he can't get a fair trial if it starts Sept. 30 as scheduled.

Burger could decide by himself whether to grant Ehrlichman's request that the trial be delayed until next year, or he could confer with the other justices and announce a joint decision. If the chief justice denied the delay by himself, Ehrlichman could then seek a postponement order from another justice.

The trial was originally set for Sept. 9. U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica granted a three-week postponement at the suggestion of the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington.

Defendants in the trial are Ehrlichman, H.R. Haldeman and Gordon Strachan, all onetime aides to former President Richard M. Nixon; former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell; and Kenneth W. Parkinson and Robert C. Maddan, who worked on Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

They are accused of trying to conceal White House involvement in the burglary at Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate office building here in June 1972.

Jaworski told the court that Ehrlichman has "virtually the same access as the government" to White House tape recordings which he says he needs more time to study.

As for publicity, the special prosecutor said a fair trial can be assured although "no one could contend, of course, that either now or in the foreseeable future it will be possible to find capable jurors completely unaware of the Watergate matter."

Nixon gets new lawyer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon has retained Herbert John Miller Jr., a Washington attorney, to replace James D. St. Clair as his personal lawyer.

"It's no secret. I have been retained," Miller, a former Justice Department lawyer, said on Tuesday. "Beyond that, I have no comment."

St. Clair, of Boston, quit after Nixon resigned from the presidency.

Miller, 50, was assistant attorney general for the criminal division of the Justice Department from 1961 to 1965. Since then he has been a partner in the Washington law firm of Miller, Cassidy, Larroca & Lewin.

He was the attorney for former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and also represented two other Watergate figures, former White House special counsel Richard Moore and William O. Bittman, E. Howard Hunt's attorney, when they appeared before the Senate Watergate committee last year.

Patty Hearst still in hiding

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I know what I have to do," Patty Hearst said in her most recent statement from the underground. "My comrades didn't die in vain.... I still feel strong and determined to fight."

Lindbergh rites quiet and simple

HANA, Hawaii (AP) — The memorial service for aviation pioneer Charles Augustus Lindbergh was simple and without fanfare, the way "the Lone Eagle" wanted it all to end.

Friends and family gathered at the tiny Kipahulu Hawaiian Church on Tuesday to honor Lindbergh one more time. He had been buried in a lava-stone grave next to the 19th century church Monday after his death from cancer. He was 72.

During his last eight days of life, Lindbergh planned for his death, including the memorial service, said Dr. Milton M. Howell, the aviator's personal physician. Fewer than two dozen persons attended the candlelit service, including his widow, Anne Morrow Lindbergh, and two of their sons, Jon and Land.

Another son and two daughters were unable to attend. The Rev. John Tinch, a Protestant minister from Hana, conducted the half-hour ceremony.

Even though no mention of Lindbergh's name was made during the service, what was said and read all honored the man who was most famous for his 1927 solo flight across the Atlantic Ocean.

"... They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint," read one scripture recited during the service.

The Rev. Mr. Tinch and the family selected some of the Bible scriptures, "and the general even had designated some," said the minister.

"He was an amazing man who had everything planned out to every detail," he added.

Continuing the theme of simplicity, Mrs. Lindbergh was dressed in a purple Hawaiian print dress with a string of pearls around her neck. The Lindbergh sons wore casual shirts and trousers.

After the ceremony, Mrs. Lindbergh thanked each person who attended. Sitting through the service without showing emotion, she wiped back a few tears as she left the chapel for their home.

Asked later what plans the widow had, Jon Lindbergh said he knew of none "at this time."

Alaskan capital change approved

By The Associated Press

Conservationist Jay Hammond, a former state Senate president known for his poetry, won the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Alaska today, defeating a field of four candidates, which included former Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel.

Hammond will face incumbent William A. Egan, a Democrat who won renomination easily in a primary that also saw Alaskans vote overwhelmingly to move their state capital from Juneau to a more central location.

In Oklahoma, where primary votes were also cast on Tuesday, House Speaker Carl Albert nailed down his 15th consecutive term in Congress, and Gov. David Hall's try for renomination ended in failure.

Oklahomans also apparently rejected a controversial proposal to legalize parimutuel betting on horse races by county option.

Hammond, 52, a commercial fisherman, bush pilot, big game guide and former state legislator from the southwest Alaska village of Naknek, often read his own poetry to his colleagues while serving in the state Senate from 1967 to 1972.

With 348 of 441 precincts reporting, Hammond had 23,520 votes or about 48 per cent. Only a plurality is required for victory. Hickel had 16,326 votes; former Gov. Keith Miller had 8,366; and two minor candidates trailed far behind.

Hickel, 55, is a former governor who left the Statehouse in 1969 to join the Cabinet of former President Richard M. Nixon. He was fired a year later after criticizing Nixon for isolating himself in the White House.

In other races, state Sen. C. R. Lewis, a member of the national board of the John Birch Society, defeated state Senate President Terry Fairbanks and

Indict deputy for orgies inside jail

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A Mahoning County Grand Jury indicted a former deputy sheriff today, along with seven female inmates of the county jail.

The jury report also criticized Sheriff Ray T. Davis as having "entirely failed to carry out his obligation...."

Mahoning County Common Pleas Judge Sidney Reigelhaupt had asked the jury to investigate reports of irregularities, including allegations there were sex orgies within the jail during which female prisoners forced themselves on other prisoners and that male trustees were involved.

Elmer Allgower, the former deputy, was charged with bribery and dereliction of duty. The jury said that from April through July this year he accepted $1,000 "to corrupt and influence him with respect to discharge of his duty."

The jury also contended that while acting as deputy, Allgower "failed to observe the lawful and reasonable regulations for the management of the jail."

Five female inmates were indicted for gross sexual imposition and two for assault.

The grand jury also told Reigelhaupt that Davis "has entirely failed to carry out his obligation as required by law, to properly feed, house and care for prisoners who are in his custody."

Fatal accidents said cut down

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nineteen persons are alive today as a result of a Fatal Accident Reduction Enforcement (FARE) program, police estimate.

Police figure since the program began in May 1973, fatal traffic accidents have been reduced by that number.

The program utilizes police officers on overtime to enforce traffic laws which are most commonly involved in traffic fatalities.

three other candidates in an upset for the GOP nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Lewis will face liberal Democrat Mike Gravel, the incumbent, who defeated three candidates.

Egan, seeking his fourth term, captured 93 per cent of the vote against a token opponent, former Alaska Federation of Natives President Don Wright of Anchorage.

The voters approved moving the capital from Juneau, reachable only by air or water, to a more central location presumably near — but not in — Anchorage or Fairbanks. A report released during the bitter campaign estimated the move will cost about $110 million, or roughly $330 for every Alaskan resident.

Saxbe fears crime inundating nation

CHICAGO (AP) — Police leaders say a major battle in the war on crime may be the fight to overcome public apathy toward solving crimes.

"Police are not the beginning and the end," said Detroit Police Chief Philip G. Tannian. "All the public has to share in the burden, but many turn and look the other way."

And Police Commissioner Donald D. Pomerleau of Baltimore, Md., said, "Society is on the defensive." In the final analysis, the police can't solve all the problems.

Sheriff Peter Pitchess of Los Angeles County put it more bluntly. He said "community apathy" poses a significant difficulty in solving crimes.

The three men gave their views on Tuesday after Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe warned a meeting of police leaders from 25 major metropolitan areas that "there is every possibility that crime will inundate us."

"The nation would then be faced with the prospect of falling apart or devising a national police force in one final effort to restore domestic order.... It would be a dreadful mistake to slide inch-by-inch toward that chasm...."

Saxbe also called for a crackdown on consistent offenders. He blamed the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration for inconsistent leadership in battling crime.

Saxbe advocated continued efforts to alleviate some causes of crime, such as poverty and employment. He said he supported rehabilitation work with first offenders.

He said that after a substantial decline in crime in 1972 and a steady pattern for the first nine months of 1973, FBI statistics show a 16 per cent in-

"These are legitimate parties and I'm just doing my job as a federal prosecutor in trying to find out the facts," Mills said.

In the nation's capital, Deputy Atty. Gen. Thomas Hayes said his probe was prompted by Mills' threat earlier in the summer to shut down the Maine Lottery.

Hayes said Maine congressmen asked the Justice Department for a ruling, and the matter was turned over to the criminal division. The criminal division is to make a recommendation to U.S. Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe.

In the meantime, there will be no federal prosecutions, Hayes said.

such diverse possible hideouts as Guatemala, Panama, Canada, Illinois, Los Angeles and the San Francisco Bay area.

Miss Hearst, 20, was dragged screaming from her Berkeley apartment on Feb. 4. Two months later in tape recordings she denounced her newspaper publisher father, jilted her fiancé, adopted revolutionary rhetoric and said her name was now "Tania."

She is wanted on charges of kidnapping, assault and robbery along with captors-turned-comrades William and Emily Harris, thought to be the last members of the SLA. If captured and convicted, she could be imprisoned for life.

"We do not know whether or not she is out of the country," FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley said at one point. "We do not know where she is."

Reports of eyewitness "sightings" of Miss Hearst and the Harrises continue. "We've got new leads in this case and we still get new leads coming in almost every day," FBI Special Agent Charles Bates said on Tuesday.

But Bates, who has been directing investigation of the case from San Francisco, added, "I don't have anything specific as far as developments are concerned."

Bates, who has admitted that he loses sleep worrying about the case, said, "I think our chances of catching any federal fugitive are good. We catch thousands of them every year. I think we will catch Miss Hearst and the other two, but I just can't tell you when."

The San Francisco FBI alone has interviewed 22,000 people in connection with the case, Bates said.

In California, police have stopped hundreds of persons for questioning because they were suspected of SLA connections or resembled the fugitives.

More tips have been followed by law enforcement agencies in other parts of the country.

Six SLA members, including the group's leader, Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze, died in a fiery shootout that destroyed their Los Angeles hideout May 17.

Two witnesses said they believed Miss Hearst left the hideout shortly before the shootout, but the FBI discounted the reports.

The last reliable sighting of Miss Hearst was on May 19 when a Los Angeles landlady said two black men and a white woman tried to rent an apartment for the night for $500. She said that when she told them there was no room, one of the men nicked her dress with a knife. The landlady picked out a picture of the heiress from a row of photos.

crease in the final quarter of last year. An FBI report to be issued Sept. 6 shows crime increased 6 per cent in 1973 from the previous year, he added.

He said the trend continued for the first three months of 1974 with an increase of 15 per cent.

The police leaders praised Saxbe's statements as a realistic assessment of the problem of crime. They said they particularly agreed with a crackdown on consistent offenders.

Honolulu Police Chief Francis A. Keala said he enjoyed "having an attorney general who is being realistic about the problems of crime."

Seattle Police Chief Robert L. Hanson described the approach as "very, very refreshing.... It signals an end to permissiveness."

Most police leaders strongly supported Saxbe's desire to "work with the first offender who can be rehabilitated. For the hardened criminal, our job is to identify him, prosecute him and lock him up."

formation, the cosmonauts feel well." Tass indicated the return to earth would not start before 4 p.m. Moscow time (9 a.m. EDT).

Soyuz 15, which was given the name Dunai, or Danube, was launched late Monday from the Baikonur space center in Soviet Asia. Tass said then that the purpose of the flight was to continue the work of Soyuz 14, which docked onto Salyut 3 for two weeks while the two crewmen worked aboard the orbiting lab.

The Russians as usual did not announce that such a linkup was planned for Soyuz 15, but the Tass announcements and the similar orbits of the two satellites led Western observers to expect one.

Both recent Soyuz missions have been in preparation for a joint Soviet-American space venture scheduled for July. American officials have reportedly been pressing the Russians to test the redesigned Soyuz craft and its linkup equipment thoroughly.

A problem in the Soyuz could lead to a postponement of the joint flight.

Stock list off slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market drifted downward today in an atmosphere of cautious waiting for President Ford's first news conference as the nation's chief executive.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 1.64 at 669.90, and losers outpaced gainers by 5 to 3 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the bedraggled market got some scattered support from short-covering, or the purchase of borrowed shares sold earlier, by traders in advance of Ford's conference, slated for later in the day. But they said the atmosphere still had a decidedly gloomy cast.

Ramada Inns, the Big Board volume leader, was down ¼ to 3¾.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was off .31 at 70.30.

The NYSE's noon composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .06 at 37.12.

The Amex volume leader was Vintage Enterprises, a mobilehome producer, down ¼ at 1¾.

A cool front moved through Ohio during the night, touching off showers and thundershowers in most counties. By morning, the front had dropped temperatures considerably below the levels of the past week.

Showers and thundershowers appeared likely today for all of the state but the extreme northwest corner, and some amounts were likely to be heavy.

Highs today were to reach the 70s north to the 80s in the southern counties. That's almost 10 degrees below Tuesday's highs.

Rainfall overnight generally was light, but Dayton reported 2.39 inches, Youngstown had .92 inch and Akron-Canton received .71 inch.

The rain was expected to continue through Thursday with lows tonight in the upper 50s to the upper 60s and highs Thursday again in the 70s or 80s.

Warmer with a chance of showers Friday through Sunday. Highs in the 70s Friday, warming to the 80s by Sunday. Lows in the 50s Friday, warming to the 60s by Sunday.

Artificial food set

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Despite the so-called energy crisis, an Indiana firm and a subsidiary of Cleveland-based Arthur G. McKee & Co. are proceeding with plans to make yet another product of petroleum this one a foodstuff for humans.

Amoco Foods Co., a division of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana), and McKee's Food and Pharmaceutical Division in Chicago announced Tuesday they are building a plant to produce 10 million pounds a year of torula yeast, a food ingredient resembling unbleached flour.

Torula yeast is used in processed meats, baked goods and other foods to improve flavor and nutrition while reducing cost, the firms said.

Announcement came as the firms unveiled plans to build a torula yeast producing plant at Hutchinson, Minn., about 60 miles west of Minneapolis.

The yeast was described as about 50 per cent protein and "a good source of minerals and vitamins essential in a balanced diet."

The dominant factor

There is talk to the effect that the nationwide 55-mile-per-hour speed limit is overrated as a factor in reduction of the highway death toll. Maybe so, but those who put forward this notion may find it difficult to account in any other way for the very substantial decline in traffic deaths.

The latest chapter in the story is the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration report that the ninth consecutive monthly decline in the death toll was recorded in July. There was heavy vacation driving that month, yet the total number of deaths was 16 per cent below that for July 1973. This, we are told, "represents an estimated 800 lives saved during July."

Since the beginning of the year there have been some 6,800 fewer auto fatalities than could have been expected on the basis of last year's toll. One gets back to the question, of course: Do lower speeds get the credit? There is no absolute way of telling, but no other element in the traffic equation seems to be anywhere near as important as this one.

All of which underscores the good sense of driving with care and at moderate speeds over the Labor Day weekend. Surpassing the Memorial Day and July Fourth fatality reductions is a fine goal to shoot for.

THESE DAYS. . . By John Chamberlain

A new Rockefeller?

Once upon a time, if Nelson Rockefeller had been named for the Vice Presidency (one heartbeat away from the White House), it would have split the Republican Party down the middle. Rocky was poison to the conservatives. They hated him for his high-tax, high-expenditure record as the perennial governor of New York State. They loathed him for his opposition to Goldwater in 1964, and for having imposed the so-called Treaty of Fifth Avenue on Nixon in 1960. They had beaten him back in four successive Republican presidential conventions.

And in New York, in his home territory, they had even formed a fourth party — the Conservative Party — to oppose any candidate who had the Rockefeller endorsement for almost anything from dogcatcher up.

All of that, however, was yesterday. The nomination of Rocky for Veep caught the conservatives, who would have screeched to high heaven if he had been put on the ticket even as recently as 1972, in a dispirited and apathetic mood. Save for Congressman John Ashbrook and a few brave intransigents, nobody has the heart to make things difficult for President Jerry Ford at the outset of the hoped-for honeymoon period.

THE IRONY about the whole situation is that the polls all tell us that the country is more conservative and less inclined to accept the values of the Eastern "Establishment" than it has ever been. Why, then, did Jerry Ford, from Grand Rapids, Michigan, pick a liberal symbol from the heart of the Northeast for Vice President? Will the "new" Republicans of the South, the Southwest and the border states resent the fact that Ford passed over such possible choices as Howard Baker and Bill Brock of Tennessee, or George Bush of Texas, or Barry Goldwater of Arizona, in order to impose a pattern on the country that suggests a return to the days of Thomas Dewey, when the Republican Party's strength was concentrated in New York State and the upper industrial Midwest?

The answers to such questions must hinge on the character of the new Nelson Rockefeller. Some New York conservatives who were fighting him yesterday seem to think his record as the "Spendthrift of Albany" is no longer an indication of what he believes today. During Rocky's 15 years as New York governor, the State budget jumped from some $2 billion to $9 billion. The personal State income tax doubled and the total tax load quintupled. Meanwhile, the cost of doing business, especially in high-priced New York City, had driven more than one big corporation to seek new headquarters in Connecticut and elsewhere. The State lost in population, in manufacturing activity and in the construction of new sources of power all through the Rockefeller years.

However, as one important New York Conservative Party founder put it to me, Rocky must know as well as anyone that the days of throwing money at problems have gone forever. The money just isn't there to throw. The particular high-placed Conservative takes solace in his knowledge that Nelson Rockefeller, in addition to being a forced convert to fiscal sobriety, is also a hard-liner insofar as military matters are concerned. And he welcomes the fact that the elevation of Rockefeller to a position of national importance will make things easier this fall for Republican Malcolm Wilson to win a term in his own right as New York State's fiscally responsible governor.

If Rocky's most bitter erstwhile enemies in the Republican ranks are now willing to talk this way, it can only enhance Jerry Ford's chances to maintain some sort of party harmony, the economic situation permitting. But if Jerry Ford can't solve his inflation problems, Rocky is hardly enough of a Populist to be of any help to the party ticket in the South and the West and the border states. Conservatism in Wallace land has its Populist flavor, and it will surely not be content with the Republicanism of Eisenhower's day if lean times really come upon us.

Democrats seeking state Senate seats

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democrats are showing hard to pick up four Republican Ohio Senate seats they think are vulnerable this November while trying to hold on to two others the GOP is eyeing.

That's a capsule bird's-eye view of the Senate races this fall as seen by spokesmen from both parties.

Republicans now hold a slender one-vote margin in the Senate. It's a margin they desperately want to retain, particularly since Democrats control the governor's office and the House, by a 58-41 margin.

The four Republican seats Democrats are working hard to obtain are those now held by Sens. Paul R. Matia, R-25 Westlake; Robert J. Corts, R-13 Elyria; Clara Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton, and Charles P. Bolton, R-31 Mentor.

Republicans think they have a good chance to oust Sens. Robert O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, and Gene Slagle, D-26 Galion.

Rick Sloan, a Democratic party worker, confirmed that the four GOP incumbents are in for a battle. "I think there is an excellent chance for us in those races because we have good candidates," he said.

A Republican source, Steve Harris, said he is confident the GOP can hold those seats and possibly pick up the other two. O'Shaughnessy is opposed by former Rep. Keith McNamara. Slagle's opponent is Harold Jones, a Mansfield businessman.

Matia is opposed by Anthony J. Celebrezze Jr. Two state representatives, Reps. John T. McCormack, D-18 Euclid, and Donald J. Pease, D-54 Oberlin, are after the seats held respectively by Corts and Bolton.

Neal F. Zimmers Jr., Dayton lawyer and son of a popular Montgomery County Probate Court judge, is seeking to unseat Mrs. Weisenborn.

Democrats also believe they are strong in another race where there is no incumbent. That one puts Democrat Nicholas D. Batt, a Toledo law student, against M. Beth Gaeth, Republican mayor of Defiance.

Republicans are especially optimistic over their chance to unseat Slagle. Newspapers in the district, they said, have attacked Slagle for serving self-interests in the real estate and auctioneering fields. He is in both businesses.

Democrats don't believe they can do it.

"He's an incumbent and a good campaigner," said Sloan. "They just couldn't find a name candidate after Robin Turner decided not to run."

Turner, a former state senator, was defeated by Slagle by 152 votes two years ago in a disputed contest. The Senate, as a result, forced Slagle to run again midway through the term.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: SPYING IS A FINE THING: YOU GET THE ENJOYMENTS OF A THIEF AND STILL REMAIN AN HONEST MAN.—JOHANN NESTROY

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
Becoming a senior citizen with style

DEAR ABBY: I identified with that woman who wrote in saying we should try to be more patient with our elderly parents.

I am trying to be patient with a mother who is at times quite exasperating. However, not all elderly people are the same. Some of Mother's contemporaries are charming and quite remarkable.

I do believe that as we grow older, we should try to keep active and interested so that we will be interesting to others.

For many years we had my wife's grandmother living with us, and now my mother-in-law, who is nearly 80, is making her home with us.

With my vast experience in dealing with the elderly I've been meaning to make a list of things to do and not do so that I will one day be a charming senior citizen, but with my luck, my memory will probably fail, and I won't be able to find the list.

GETTING THERE

DEAR GETTING: Thanks. You've given me an idea. I think I'll compose such a list from experience of others. My own parents weren't lucky enough to become senior citizens. And my husband's parents are in their 70's-but a more beautiful, independent and ageless couple I've never known.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's partner, who is a fine young man of 29, recently married a 20-year-old girl. She was very promiscuous before they met, but he probably knows nothing about it as he is a newcomer to this town. Being pretty she "swept him off his feet" and they married after a whirlwind romance.

She is pregnant, and it wouldn't surprise me one bit of her husband wasn't even the baby's father. I heard that shortly after their marriage she was seen with another man.

We must see them socially, which is very painful to us because we know about her background. My husband and I are torn between telling this best friend and business partner the truth and keeping quiet. Please tell us how to cope with the situation.

NO ADDRESS, PLEASE

DEAR NO ADDRESS: Keep quiet, of course. And don't believe everything you hear. The gossip could be entirely without foundation.

DEAR ABBY: A poor, homely type girl became impregnated by a married man who had no intention of leaving his wife and marrying her. The girl says it's too late for an abortion, but the father of the unborn suggested that she have the baby and let him and his wife adopt it as they were childless and desperately wanted a child.

This would have been a perfect solution to everyone's problem. But you say "no," and even have the gall to suggest that the child be handed over to an adoption agency!

How can you be so narrow-minded? Any child born under such circumstances would rather be in a home with its biological father than in a "nice" home with adopted strangers.

Are you so arrogant that you think you can play "God" with people's lives with your often biased advice? It seems to me that you need a little advice yourself.

J.C.F.

DEAR MR. F.: What assurance have you that after this unwed mother hands over the child to the man with whom she's in love (a "detail" you ignored) she will simply disappear forever?

I have received many letters from people who have been a party to such a deal, much to their regret. If one could eliminate one factor—the natural mother's emotionalism, you would be right. But one can't.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 28, the 240th day of 1974. There are 125 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1609, the English navigator, Henry Hudson, discovered Delaware Bay.

On this date — In 1828, the Russian writer Leo Tolstoy was born in the province of Tula.

In 1833, the British Parliament banned slavery throughout the British Empire.

In 1913, the Palace of Peace — a gift of the American industrialist Andrew Carnegie — was dedicated at the Hague.

In 1916, Germany declared war on Romania.

In 1917, 10 suffragettes were arrested as they picketed the White House in Washington.

In 1963, about 200,000 blacks and whites joined in a peaceful civil rights rally in Washington.

Ten years ago: Severe rioting broke out among blacks in Philadelphia.

Five years ago: The Nixon administration was granted a request for a delay in the start of court-ordered desegregation of 30 Mississippi school districts.

One year ago: Mexico was hit by a devastating earthquake in which about 500 were killed and more than 1,000 injured.

Today's birthdays: Actress Ingrid Bergman is 57. Actor Charles Boyer is 75.

Thought for today: The man who loves other countries as much as he loves his own is like the man who loves other women as much as he loves his own wife — President Theodore Roosevelt.

Marriage vows exchanged in McNair Presbyterian Church

MRS. JERRY L. FITZPATRICK

McNair United Presbyterian Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Betty Jane Backenstoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Backenstoe, 337 Lewis St., and Jerry Lyn Fitzpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ora A. Fitzpatrick, 832 E. Temple St.

The Rev. Wilbur Bullock, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar enhanced with arrangements of white gladioli, carnations and pompons in colors of lavender, pink, yellow and blue, accented on either side by seven-branch candelabra.

Mr. Garrell Leasure, organist, presented a half-hour of nuptial selections from Love Story, Romeo and Juliet, Love is a Many Splendored Thing, O Promise Me and How Great Thou Art.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, chose for her wedding a formal white gown of silk organza designed with high neckline and long capped Bishop sleeves caught at the wrists by Chantilly lace cuffs. Her A-line skirt trimmed in matching Chantilly lace was accented with a bow at the empire waist and self-covered buttons down the front of the bodice. Her detachable train accented the back in matching lace. Her elbow-length illusion veil extended into a chapel-length mantilla edged in Chantilly lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of daisies, sweetheart roses, baby's breath and carnations of pink, lavender, yellow and blue.

Mrs. John Enochs, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore a formal length gown of light blue dotted Swiss with matching underlay. The sleeves were short and puffed and a scoop neckline was at the bodice. The A-line empire waist was trimmed with lace which extended down the front of the gown.

Miss Lenora Slavens, Mrs. Benny Backenstoe, and Miss Beth Backenstoe, bridesmaids, wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor, except in pink, lavender and yellow. Miss Jill Persinger, the flower girl, wore a miniature version of the gowns in light blue. Each wore a white hat with matching ribbon and lace, and carried small colonial bouquets of daisies and baby's breath accented to match their gowns. Little Jill carried a white wicker basket of mixed spring flowers.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown of blue and green floral print with ruffled V-neckline. The groom's mother wore a formal length gown with red and white bodice and white pleated skirt; with long sleeved navy bolero. Each wore a corsage of white daisies.

Ralph Hilderbrand served as best man, Danny and Randy Fitzpatrick, brothers of the groom, and Benny Backenstoe, brother of the bride, seated the wedding guests. Robbie Enochs, nephew of the bride, was the ringbearer. Rice bags were distributed to the guests by Johnnie Enochs and Scott Backenstoe, nephews of the bride.

Mrs. Randy Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Danny Fitzpatrick sisters-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. John Bartruff, a sister, served as hostesses for the reception held in the church social room. The bride's table, was covered with a lace cloth, held a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a bride and groom figurine. Three tiered candelabra flanked the cake and arrangements of daisies.

Upon their return from the Smokey Mountains, the new Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick are residing at 854 Kohler Drive. Both are graduates of Washington High School. He is associated with the Fitzpatrick Oil Company.

Harold Shank performed the double-ring ceremony at 1:30 p.m. before an altar enhanced with altar arrangements of yellow daisies and carnations, white gladioli, roses and greenery. Candelabra entwined with greenery and white bows completed the setting. Contemporary and traditional music selections were played.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hargis D. Ramey, 533 Frank St. and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leon E. Oughterson of Cortland, N.Y.

Senior Citizens tour quaint Roscoe Village

On Monday, 39 Senior Citizens went to Roscoe Village in Coshocton, where they were taken on a guided tour by guides in colonial dress. Roscoe Village, a restored canal town on the former Ohio Erie Canal, was once a busy port. Here they saw craftsmen at work demonstrating age-old arts.

Guests registered at the historic Township Hall, the seat of community government since 1880, toured the Williams House, saw the Carpenter's Village Book Shop, Hans Stockli's Cheese Cellar and purchased cheese, saw the General Store, the Mortar and Pestle Drug Store, saw the Village Pump, where homemade baked goods and handcrafts were sold, and toured the Williams House Gardens, where the herb, vegetable and flower gardens were.

They also saw the Toll keeper's House, the home of Roscoe's first toll collector, viewed local artists displays at the Art Gallery, the old Blacksmith Shop where mules and horses of canal boats were shod, the Goose Nest Gift Shop, the old hotel, Captain Nye's Sweet Shop and the Village Art works craft supply shop, old Post Office Building, and the Pewter Shop, which all found very interesting.

Lunch was enjoyed at the Old Warehouse Restaurant, then all took the canal boat ride, which took them on the original Ohio Erie Canal. Towed by horses, the boat provided a scenic trip of the locks of the huge sandstone blocks to the triple locks.

Bob McEwen of Hillsboro was a special dinner guest on Friday when 80 of the Senior Citizens enjoyed a carry-in dinner at the Senior Citizens Center, Delaware St. Mr. McEwen participating in the program for the afternoon by presenting a piano solo, sang with the SC quartet, and directed the Senior Citizen rhythm band.

The afternoon was also spent playing cards and games.

Liz Taylor given role in Russia

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor will star in a multimillion dollar musical based on a fairy tale in the first joint Soviet-American film, an official of Tower International said Tuesday.

The film will be "The Bluebird," from the Maurice Maeterlinck classic, said Clara Reece, a senior vice president.

She said a deal has been completed on the production and the two countries would split the costs. She declined to estimate the total cost.

The Soviets are to supply the location and studios. Most of the actors will be American, she said.

The production is scheduled to be released late in 1975.

"The highest government level" in the U.S.S.R. is involved in the project, she said. "The Russians are anxious to make a good job."

She said the Soviets can be expected to carry out the terms of the contract to the letter. She said she has to keep at the Americans who are accustomed to dealing much more casually.

In the story, a witch visits two children who are sleeping. She tells them that her daughter is ill and that she only can be cured if the children find the bluebird.

Gilligan likes government cooperation

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan, a Democrat, said he's pleased with the breakthrough of cooperation in government and credits the change to President Ford.

His remarks came Tuesday before 180 delegates to the Interstate Conference on Water Problems. The week-long convention represents most of the nation's 50 states, the federal government and Canada.

Gilligan, an outspoken critic of former President Nixon, told the group President Ford has provided understanding to "the interworkings and needs of cooperation among all levels of government."

The convention is comprised of experts on water pollution, sanitation engineers and interstate committees in charge of implementing standards set by the 1972 Federal Water Pollution Control Act.

The groups sponsoring the convention are Association of State and Interstate Water Pollution Control Administrators, the Conference of State Sanitary Engineers and the Interstate Conference on Water Problems.

Scheduled to address the conference today was Warren D. Fairchild, director of the Water Resources Council, created by Interior Secretary C.B. Rogers Morton.

Fairchild is in the process of compiling a water supply and needs survey which will be presented to President Ford in time for the budget message to Congress.

Nursing homes slate emergency meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Nursing Home Association has called an emergency meeting here Thursday because of what it calls a crisis developing from new state Medicaid regulations and rates.

William L. Dunn, association president, said some nursing homes are "on the verge of bankruptcy because of inadequate payment for patient care and the uncertainty of the Medicaid program as it is administered in Ohio."

A $25-million convention center under construction in Kansas City will more than double the city's current $30-million annual convention business volume by 1976, says Mayor Charles Wheeler.

'Technology transfer' topic during Rotary Club meeting

What's technology transfer?

Members of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club learned that although "technology transfer" has been defined in many ways by scholars and businessmen, it is simply making use of ways to do new things to benefit a business.

Ernest A. Bortis, manager of the Technology Transfer Center of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development, Columbus, discussed "technology transfer" with Rotarians during the club's weekly luncheon meeting in the Country Club.

BORTIS SAID the purpose of the Technology Transfer Center, which is on an organizational level with other bureaus within the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development, is to generate and encourage technology for small and medium-sized Ohio businesses.

He pointed out that there are countless illustrations of such transfers, many of them involving technologies, or ways to do things, developed originally in the course of the space program.

For example, Bortis said, some states are equipping their highway patrol officers with a small tool about the size of a ball-point pen which can be used to cut metal in the event that persons are trapped inside wrecked vehicles.

He also said in northern Ohio there is a young girl who is completely paralyzed and confined to a wheelchair, but she is able to direct the wheelchair by moving her eyes.

Requests for technological assistance representing potential opportunities for successful technology transfers are screened and edited by the center and then transmitted to appropriate and qualified institutions or firms in the technology development field, according to the guest speaker.

But, Bortis said, there are a number of inventors who submit proposals which are entirely unpracticable. He said the center received a request from a person to devise a parachute for larger jets. The inventor said when the jet became disabled or experienced other difficulties the pilot could pull a ring and the plane would drift softly and safely to the ground.

The center forwarded the proposal to officials at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, who later explained the parachute required would need to be as large as Hamilton County.

Bortis, who was associated with Battelle Memorial Institute before becoming manager of the Technology Transfer Center, explained to Rotarians that the center is just one branch of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development, a cabinet-level department.

He said one of the functions of the Department of Economic and Community Development is a trade mission. He said a number of representatives have been attempting to locate a Volkswagen assembly plant in Ohio, after the company announced it was considering the possibility of moving a plant to the United States.

THE REGULAR business meeting was conducted by Paul Crosby, club president, and Bruce Galloway was the program chairman.

Crosby singled out Rotarian George Finley, who was honored during the Aladdin Shrine Temple's annual summer ceremonial held here over the weekend. The class of new Shrine club inductees was named in honor of Finley, long-time secretary and treasurer of the Washington C. H. Shrine Club.

Rotarian Robert Simpson introduced Salvadore Lozano, of Chihuahua, Mexico, who will be spending the school year with the Simpson family, 825 Lincoln Drive, as the Rotary Club's exchange student.

Will Braun was a guest with Phil Mosley. Visiting Rotarians were Darrell French, of Wilmington, and Gerald Straley and Robert Montenegro, both of Mount Sterling.

Ohio target in marijuana effort

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ohio has been picked as a target state for legislative reform by a national organization advocating the repeal of criminal penalties for using marijuana.

Keith Stroup, founder and head of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML), said it will begin an intensive lobbying effort in Ohio Jan. 1 to get a law passed decriminalizing marijuana use.

"Ohio is now the state that seems to be sending the most people for long sentences," he said. "I don't know anyplace but Ohio that gives 20-year sentences."

The Ohio House passed by an 89-3 vote this year a bill to modify marijuana penalties but it died in the Senate Rules Committee. However, Stroup said the bill did not go far enough.

A first offense for possessing marijuana in Ohio is punishable by up to a year in jail while possession for sale can bring 10 to 20 years. Selling marijuana is punishable by a sentence of 20 to 40 years.

The Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction says 384 persons under age 30 began serving sentences last year for violating drug laws. A spokesman says that up to 200 were convicted solely of marijuana offenses.

Stroup called Ohio "the Texas of 1974."

Prior to July 1973, possession of any amount of marijuana in Texas was a felony punishable by two years to life in prison. After NORML began lobbying, Texas reduced possession of less than four ounces to a misdemeanor and lowered the maximum penalty for possession of greater amounts from life to 10 years imprisonment.

Stroup said the major concern in Ohio is the handling of marijuana sellers. He said the law does not distinguish between the commercial trafficker, who sells large amounts for profit, and the casual seller who sells to friends without a profit.

Stroup said that as a step towards repeal of marijuana laws, he would like to see Ohio adopt a statute like the one in Oregon. He said that being busted for marijuana in Oregon is like receiving a parking ticket.

Fines range from $25 to $100 and the penalty does not grow more severe with repeated offenses.

However, Stroup added that considering the conservatism of many Ohio politicians, he is not optimistic about getting such a law passed in Ohio soon.

State Rep. George E. Mastics, R-3, Fairview Park, said the odds were four-to-one against passage of a law like Oregon's.

He recalled stiff opposition to his bill four years ago to make possession of marijuana a misdemeanor.

DOWNTOWN WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE

Campaign rules under attack

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said Tuesday

Nearly 100 more persons tour city jail facility

Although two open house sessions have been held at the refurbished Washington C. H. Police Department, officers here are continuing to receive requests from area residents to tour the facilities.

Police Chief Rodman Scott said nearly 100 persons toured the renovated police headquarters and new jail cellblock area during the second open house held Wednesday night.

However, Scott and other officers are continuing to receive requests for tours, despite the nearly 100 visitors Wednesday night and another 200 who inspected the facilities on Sunday afternoon.

"We're trying to make arrangements to accommodate those who are still requesting tours," Scott said. He added police officers would be pleased to conduct tours when time and the number of personnel on duty permit.

CITY OFFICIALS and police officers have been extremely pleased with the response received from scheduling the open house tours.

Scott said that although Wednesday's open house was not scheduled to begin until 7 p.m., about 18 interested persons were at police headquarters shortly after 6:30 p.m. awaiting the tour.

The last of the nearly 100 persons who visited the holding facility Wednesday night finished their tour shortly before 10 p.m., even though the open house had been scheduled to end an hour earlier.

Scott said the department is still awaiting the Ohio Department of Health's final inspection of the facility before prisoners will be housed in the

top composer

VIENNA (AP) — Karl Boehm, the Austrian-born composer who is one of the world's best interpreters of the music of Mozart, is 80 years old today. His birthday celebrations will continue throughout the year.

Boehm began conducting 57 years ago in his native Graz and since then has conducted at opera houses in Milan, New York, Vienna and around the world, as well as at the Mozart festivals in Salzburg.

He calls Mozart "the greatest genius of music ever."

"Always when I am conducting Mozart I feel fresh after 10 minutes, even though I may have felt tired before," Boehm said during a recent interview.

"It is the music which keeps me young."

there was nothing he could do about a provision in the new campaign expense law that would allow one candidate's committee to transfer funds to another.

EMERGENCIES

Rebecca Nance, 15, 317 Earl Ave., minor surgery.

Both were released following treatment in the emergency room at Memorial Hospital.

Brown filed his rules to implement the new law within his own office, but said he was without legal authority to close what his opponent in November considers a "loophole."

Although the law puts limits on spending, Brown said, it puts non on contributions and allows a "transfer of funds" in the description of contributions.

Sen. Tony Hall, D-6 Dayton, at hearings on proposed regulations last Thursday, said it would allow one candidate with more money than he needed to transfer funds to another within his party who needed them.

"Until the law is amended," Brown said, "such contributions are permitted." His rules would require the candidate making such a transfer to list it as an expense against his own campaign.

Brown, in a statement, said his supplementary rules to the new law—which became effective July 23—would not have been needed if his own campaign expense reporting proposal had been adopted by the General Assembly.

"Early in the 110th General Assembly," he said, "we submitted draft legislation for a strong campaign expense reporting law. By the time the final version was passed, several changes had been incorporated which necessitated this rule making."

Hall voted against the campaign reporting bill but said he did so because he thought it had too many loopholes. At the hearing, he said he still believed it did but thought it was a step in the right direction.

Hall called upon Brown to close some of the loopholes rather than "point them out for you." Brown said he was limited in his rule-making authority under the law.

James Marsh, Brown's chief assistant, said any changes in the rules would have to be made by the bipartisan Ohio Elections Commission or the courts.

Among major provisions:

—Requires a candidate who seeks more than one office to establish separate campaign committees and file different reports for each candidacy.

—Provides that a candidate receiving or spending funds in a year which he is not seeking re-election—or pays debts or loans for a previous campaign—would have the amounts credited to that campaign, while other expenditures would relate to the next election.

—Requires that expenditures prior to the July 23, 1974 effective date of the new law must be accounted for in the Nov. 5 election filings because a report would have been required even if the law hadn't changed.

—Requires that all expenditures on behalf of a candidate with his consent, regardless of amount, must be reported and do count against the spending limit for that specific race.

—Contents that unauthorized expenditures of $25 or less do not count against the spending limit. The law forbids expenditures of more than $25 without written consent.

—Established procedures for local boards of elections to follow in carrying out the law and notifying candidates of its provisions.

The limits on spending, under the law, range from around $200 for a local school board post to $1.1 million for governor or U.S. senator.

WASHINGTON (AP) — They're serving a new drink at the White House these days.

"What's that drink?" President Ford inquired across the Cabinet room when he saw some of his economic advisers sipping an apricot-colored, iced drink.

"Iced tea and pineapple juice," came the reply.

Billingham blanks Phillies, 3-0

Football Report

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Righthander Jack Billingham became the first National League 16-game winner of the season Tuesday night as the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 3-0, but three errors by Phillies second baseman Dave Cash gave Cincinnati the win.

Cash, who was obtained by Philadelphia from the Pittsburgh Pirates last fall, said he couldn't recall the last time he made three errors in one game. Two of the errors were responsible for the three Cincinnati runs.

"I couldn't do nothing right tonight," lamented the 26-year-old infielder.

His second error set up a two-run Cincinnati sixth. The Reds had one out and a runner at first when Dan Driessen grounded a routine doubleplay ball to Cash. The second baseman threw high, pulling shortstop Larry Bowa off the second base bag, and both runners were safe.

Cash's third error came in the ninth. He dropped the ball on a stolen base attempt by Tony Perez. Dave Concepcion singled home the run.

Phillies' starter Dick Ruthven retired Johnny Bench on a pop, but Perez ripped a double to right-center for two runs and a 2-0 Reds' lead.

That was all Billingham needed. He blanked the Phillies on seven hits, surviving a one-out, bases-loaded jam in the second.

Billingham made several mistakes, but he got away with them.

"In the seventh, (Greg) Luzinski just missed by a hair of getting all of that ball he hit to deep center," Billingham said. "And Cash did the same thing in that inning."

Billingham said he has been struggling all season despite his 16 victories.

"But you can struggle when you pitch for the Big Red Machine," Billingham added. "I've had a stiff shoulder on and off all year. But you win a lot of games 8-5 with this team. I've got a lot of five-inning decisions. Last year I had twice as many complete games, more innings pitched."

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson was pleased with the victory, but he's playing it cute on whether his team can catch the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers in the West Division.

"I have no idea," he insists. "They (the Dodgers) have a way of winning too. I want to get 100 victories and then whatever happens, happens. That's a lot of wins," indicating he felt that would be enough to win the West.

Tuesday practice sessions at Miami Trace found the Panthers preparing for a basically reserve scrimmage, which was scheduled at London this afternoon.

In the London scrimmage, Panther coach Fred Zechman plans to use his varsity offense and defense for one series each. The remainder of the game will find the Panthers' reserves on the field.

"I hope this type of a scrimmage will work out," reflected Zechman. "This way, we get a chance to see our reserves on film and maybe some of them will prove they deserve a shot at a starting varsity position."

"It is a long way until the season starts," continued Zechman. "We are looking for the 11 best players for each unit. We want the 11 best hitters on defense and the 11 best blockers for offense."

Most of the day was spent tuning up for the scrimmage. The Panthers ran through their standard drills and worked together on team timing, both offensively and defensively.

John Schlichter, who has been bothered by an injured ankle, will see a lot of action in the London scrimmage. Schlichter, a junior, will start at defensive end and tight end.

In the Washington camp, coach Maurice Pfeiffer sent his team through defensive drills in the morning and worked on offense in the afternoon. The main concentration of the defense was on the goal line and prevent defense. On offense, the Lions worked on their goal line offense, two minute hurry-up offense and the kicking game.

Jeff Brown and Tim O'Flynn have both been looking good on kick-offs. Greg Marti, who kicks soccer style, will be counted on for the extra points.

Brown and Randy Gardner are the Lions' punters.

"Marti has been very consistent," said Pfeiffer. "Brown has been showing excellent form in his punting and I feel that his back-up (Gardner) is the second best punter in the SCOL."

Pfeiffer plans to send the Lions through two full practices today. Thursday, the team will go through their morning session in full gear, while they will work out in shorts in an evening practice. Friday morning, there will be a skull session in preparation for Friday evening's scrimmage at West Jefferson.

Larry Dumford, returning fullback and linebacker, received a head bump in Tuesday's workouts. He was to have seen a doctor Tuesday evening.

Booster drives are being initiated by both schools. Players from each team will be canvassing the area in the upcoming days.

The Panthers' booster ticket drive begins Thursday evening. The players will be going to houses beginning at 5:30.

Washington's booster ticket drive will start Saturday afternoon. The Lions' team members will be selling the tickets for support of their athletic program.

Jenkins records 19th victory

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

On the field, the Texas Rangers have been one of baseball's big surprises. Tuesday night's 2-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles boosted Texas' record to 67-63, good for third place in the American League West.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York beat Minnesota 4-2, Oakland edged Milwaukee 3-2, California trimmed Detroit 7-6, Boston defeated Chicago 6-1 and Cleveland beat Kansas City 12-8 in the opener of their doubleheader, then lost to the Royals

Ferguson Jenkins allowed just five Oriole hits in boosting his record to 19-11, the only Baltimore run scoring on an infield single by Paul Blair, a bloop hit on a hit-and-run play by Tommy Davis and a forced out.

Texas scored its runs in the first inning against Jim Palmer, 4-10, on Dave Nelson's single and back-to-back RBI doubles by Cesar Tovar and Jeff Burroughs. Jenkins made them stand up.

Yanks 4, Twins 2
Roy White's two-run, basesloaded single in the seventh inning highlighted a four-run rally that boosted the Yankees to victory.

New York loaded the bases against Minnesota starter Bill Hands, 4-5, on two singles and a walk with none out. Pinch hitter Bill Sudakis drove in the first run with a sacrifice fly, Sandy Alomar's single again loaded the bases and White followed with his go-ahead hit. Bobby Murcer's single delivered the fourth New York run.

Angels 7, Tigers 6
Bob Oliver's sacrifice fly in the 13th inning drove in the winning run for the Angels.

Ellie Rodriguez led off the 13th with a double, moved to third on Bobby Heise's bunt and scored on Oliver's fly ball to left.

A's 3, Brewers 2
Mike Hegan, who entered the game at the start of the eighth inning as a defensive replacement, committed an error that let in a pair of runs as the A's turned a 2-1 defeat into a 3-2 victory.

With Bert Campaneris on third and two out, Reggie Jackson was intentionally walked. After Jackson stole second, Sal Bando hit a bouncer to Don Money who threw to Hegan at first, but Hegan dropped the ball and Campaneris scored to tie the game.

Joe Rudi followed with a single to center, bringing in Jackson with the winning run.

Red Sox 6, White Sox 1
Reggie Cleveland got the starting nod when Juan Marichal came up ailing, and he responded by pitching Boston to a 6-1 victory, scattering seven hits over the first eight innings.

NFL negotiations moving into overtime

By JOE MOOSHIL
AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — In football terms, the cooling-off period moved into overtime today, the latest proposal by the owners to end the National Football League Players Association strike was tackled hard at the line of scrimmage and there's a time out in the negotiations.

By a 25-1 vote Tuesday night, the NFLPA strongly rejected the owners' newest offer, but the players will remain in their training camps as the 14-day cooling off period has been indefinitely extended.

"We gambled the 14-day period would work. It didn't," Ed Garvey, executive director of the players union, told a press conference early today. "We wanted a good faith offer but they did not make the effort. This offer is hardly what we consider a good faith offer."

"The negotiations have been recessed," Bill Curry, union president, said. "It's been decided for the players to remain in camp and continue without an agreement."

Neither Garvey nor Curry, who announced the near-unanimous rejection, said which representative from the 26 NFL teams cast the dissenting vote.

"The negotiations have been called off and when the owners come up with a substantial offer, we'll go back," Garvey said. "We intend to remain flexible and we'll play it by ear. No, they didn't break the union. We feel it is stronger than ever."

W.J. Usery Jr., head of the federal mediation team, was saddened that the 14-day cooling-off period, which was his suggestion to the union, did not foster an agreement.

"I have encouraged both sides to play the season," Usery said. "I don't plan to call them back into negotiations in the near future — by that I mean the next few days."

The 14-day cooling-off period, which allowed veterans to enter training camp while negotiations in the prolonged labor dispute rolled on, went into overtime at 12 midnight, EDT Tuesday.

John Thompson, NFL Management Council executive director, said the crux of the 59-day labor dispute, the longest in the history of major professional sports, was still the so-called Rozelle rule in which the NFL commissioner can compensate a club for a player who plays out his option and signs with another team.

A modification of the owners' stance on the Rozelle rule was an important part of the new package delivered by the Management Council, bargaining unit for the 26 club owners.

The players' union had withdrawn its demands for abolition of the Rozelle rule earlier, saying it should be left up to the courts to decide.

Indians 12-2, Royals 8-13
Rico Carty's second run-scoring double of the game drove in the go-ahead run in the eighth inning for the Indians, who added four runs in the ninth, three of them on John Ellis' bases-loaded triple.

In the second game, Nelson Briles pitched a five-hitter and coasted behind a seven-run first-inning uprising by the Royals.

Time near for Bengals player cuts

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Some nerves were expected to be on edge today as the Cincinnati Bengals returned to training camp after Tuesday's rest.

Coach Paul Brown has indicated the time is near for a major trimming of the squad.

"We've got to start making our plans," said Brown, noting the situation has settled since players voted overwhelmingly not to leave camp at the end of the 14-day "cooling-off" period. About 17 players must be cut to reduce the squad to the National Football League's limit of 40 for the regular season.

The Bengals have four days to prepare for Sunday's annual exhibition with upstate rival Cleveland at Columbus.

Cincinnati could be missing star field goal kicker Horst Muhlmann, who pulled a muscle in Monday night's 27-14 victory over the Detroit Lions.

Brown indicated that punter Dave Green, former kicking star at Ohio University, will concentrate on field goals this week.

Running back Essex Johnson and defensive back Tommy Casanova, who sat out nearly the entire game Monday after being injured early, were expected to be back in uniforms today.

Johnson hurt a knee he had operated on last winter and Casanova bruised his back.

Cuno Barragan, where are you now? And wherever you are, stay away from Benny Ayala.

Benny Ayala, a 23-year old outfielder, joined an elite group — if 39 other players can be called elite — Tuesday night when, in his first major league at-bat, he slugged a home run.

The line-drive shot triggered a three-run second inning that carried the New York Mets to a 4-2 victory over the Houston Astros.

In Tuesday night's other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds blanked Philadelphia 3-0, the Los Angeles Dodgers clubbed the Cubs 12-5, the Pittsburgh Pirates swamped San Francisco 13-2, the San Diego Padres beat St. Louis 3-1 and the Montreal Expos defeated Atlanta 6-1.

Ayala had been recalled from Tidewater of the International League earlier Tuesday and started off with a bang, jumping on a Tom Griffin fast-ball and powdering it over the 341-foot sign down the left field line.

One out later, Teddy Martinez singled and Tug McGraw and Jim Gosger walked, then Felix Millan lined a single to left for two more runs.

Dodgers 10, Cubs 5
Jimmy Wynn hit a two-run homer and Bill Buckner and Joe Ferguson slugged solo homers to lead the Dodgers' 13-hit attack against the Cubs.

Jose Cardenal and Jerry Morales hit two-run homers for Chicago, which had a 5-4 lead before the Dodgers ripped Rick Reuschel for three runs in the third, two on Bill Russell's bases-loaded single.

Pirates 13, Giants 2
Al Oliver drove home five runs, four of them with a double and a single in

Amateur golf clashcontinues

RIDGEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Bill Campbell has been playing in the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship for more than half his life — 31 years to be exact.

Ed Tutwiler, a 55-year-old luxury car dealer from Indianapolis, has played in the national event 16 times.

Campbell, a 51-year-old insurance agent, won the event 10 years ago, while the title has eluded Tutwiler.

The tournament, being played this week on the par-71, 6,754-yard Ridgewood Country Club, offers the two men a chance to compete with the future stars of the professional golf tour.

Their views on winning the 74th running of the national event, however, differ greatly.

Tutwiler, who lost to Campbell in the 1964 finals, says he's too old to win and feels "it gets harder and harder for me to get up and want to play."

But Campbell, who played 25 holes of golf Tuesday before knocking off Warren Coates of Williamsport, Pa., in secondround action, says he's here to win.

FALL SKATING SCHEDULE

EFFECTIVE AUGUST 30TH
FRIDAY & SATURDAY NIGHTS
7:30 P.M. TO

PRODUCTION SECTION — The production section of the 60,000-square foot Cor Tec, Inc., plant in the city's Industrial Park is sandwiched between large areas which are used to store raw materials and the finished product. The company is presently operating with a work force of 20 hourly employees, but will expand employment when full production is reached in approximately four weeks.

ON ITS WAY — A Cor Tec, Inc. worker operates the vacuum lift machinery which will be transferring the nearly completed panel to the cutting machine. Once the panel has been cut to the proper size, it is stored in another area of the plant before being shipped.

Radar guns aid police

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Two hand-held radar guns costing $1,100 each are helping Cincinnati police crack down on speeding motorists.

The lightweight devices can be plugged into an automobile cigarette lighter for power to register the speed of passing cars.

"They can pick up and clock traffic in either direction as far as several miles away," said Patrolman Dan Mitchell.

The portable unit led to 13 speeding tickets in a 30-minute span Tuesday. Mounting pedestrian deaths have concerned traffic authorities, and the guns are being used in high-risk pedestrian zones, police said.

Almost half of Cincinnati's 44 traffic fatalities this year have been pedestrians.

Xenia to receive Israeli bookshelves

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—A formal ceremony is planned next month for a representative of Israel to present this tornado-stricken community with $50,000 worth of bookshelves.

contractor, is completing electrical work and installation of exterior lighting while landscaping and heating projects are also being finished.

The company is presently operating with a work force of 20 hourly employees with prospects of expanding employment to 70 persons when full production is reached.

Ron Hoxsie, of Washington C.H., assistant plant manager, said the company expects to reach full production in approximately four weeks. The plant is presently operating on one eight-hour shift, but when full production is reached, a second shift would be added, creating employment for about 30 more workers. Depending on the production here, a third shift could be added, expanding the total work force to about 70 employees.

Hoxsie said the company will be capable of manufacturing 30,000 square feet of the fiberglass reinforced plywood panels per eight-hour shift when full production is reached. The company is presently manufacturing the equivalent of two truckloads or one railroad car per day. The firm is capable of producing panels 55 feet in length and 10 feet wide.

The Washington C.H. plant, which is twice the size of the company's operations in Auburn, Wash., is basically divided into three sections, discounting office space. The actual production section of the plant is sandwiched between large areas for raw materials and finished product storage. A loading ramp is situated in one of the storage areas where a track spur from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad extends to the building.

The plant has two supervisors in its production portion, but three men from the company's Auburn, Wash., plant are augmenting the work force here in a supervisory capacity.

Frank Jean, of Washington C.H., is the production supervisor, and Charles McKinney, of Washington C.H., is supervising the shipping, maintenance and receiving departments.

CARL BOLTON, of Auburn, Wash., is the company president. William Mathison, vice president of operations, will be relocating here from the Auburn, Wash., headquarters and will be the plant's general manager. Hoxsie, formerly materials manager at Conchemco, Inc., Sabina, is the assistant plant manager, and Mrs. Sandra Dale, formerly of Seattle, Wash., is the office manager.

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held in the city's Industrial Park last November for the new industry. The company purchased a 29-acre tract from Chase Brass, Inc.

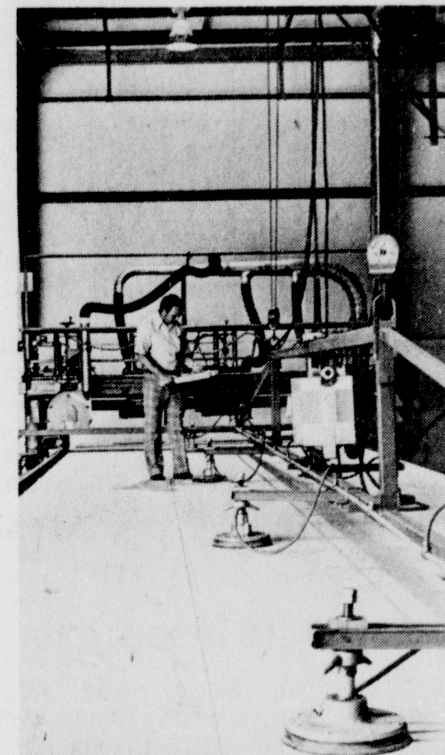

The firm began operations in Auburn, Wash., nearly 10 years ago, and presently has 40 employees there. The Auburn plant will continue its operations, according to Bolton.

Mathison said the company decided to locate in Washington C.H. because the major portion of its market is located in the Ohio area.

Company officials are planning a formal opening ceremony for late September.

FINAL CHECK — Ron Hoxsie, assistant plant manager, makes certain the equipment is in proper working condition before one of the large panels is cut.

Tax levies fare poorly

By The Associated Press

Tax levies proposed in several school districts around the state fared poorly in special elections Tuesday.

Ashland voters soundly rejected a 5-mill levy for city schools, and a 3.5-mill levy in the Mapleton School District in Ashland County was turned down by a 2-1 margin.

Also defeated were levies of 6.8 mills for Warren city schools, 3.5 for the Liberty Local District in Trumbull County and 9.5 for Niles city schools.

Sidney voters finally approved a 4.2-mill operating levy after having rejected it in November and May. And a 6.5-mill levy for LaBrea schools was passed.

Grant radio license

Lima State patients tell of beatings

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two Lima State Hospital patients, testifying with court-granted anonymity, Tuesday described incidents of beatings, poor medical care and isolation in solitary confinement at the institution.

The patients testified before a three-judge panel during a U.S. District Court hearing on a class action suit brought in behalf of inmates at the hospital for the criminally insane.

Judge Nicholas Walinski cleared the courtroom during the patients' testimony and ordered news reporters not to reveal the names of the witnesses.

During the testimony, one patient voiced fear of retaliation by hospital staff members after returning to the institution following the court session.

Conditions described by one of the patients included being strapped by the wrists and ankles to a bed for periods of up to two months and later being strapped by the waist to a chair.

The other, who claimed to have been confined in a solitary cell called "the hole," also complained of being constantly sedated without apparent reason.

When not in solitary confinement, the witnesses said, patients are required to sit quietly in assigned chairs and are prohibited from talking with other patients.

Both patients said they had been confined to small cells without running water or toilets.

The witnesses said doctors at the hospital visited patient wards about once each week and patients must wait about three weeks after requesting individual attention.

One told of being beaten by three attendants after failing to participate properly in an organized tooth-brushing drill.

Advocates for Basic Legal Equality, a Toledo law reform group, filed the suit in May, 1973, challenging hospital procedures and the constitutionality of state laws regarding treatment of the criminally insane.

The court is expected to rule later on the constitutionality of the state's Ascherman Act, which allows the indefinite confinement of criminal offenders judged mentally retarded or psychotic.

Irish moss, gathered mainly on the shores of Prince Edward Island, is used in the chemical and paint industries, and as a stabilizer in certain foods.

Yule card sale scheduled

Area residents are being given the opportunity to support the fight against cancer while obtaining beautiful Christmas cards they will undoubtedly be purchasing anyway.

The local chapter of the American Cancer Society is beginning its 10th year of offering a selection of hundreds of Christmas cards, the sale of which will assist cancer research and treatment facilities.

Society representatives, Mrs. Birch Rice and Mrs. William Heinz, will be taking orders for the greeting cards through October. They stressed that the cards are being sold at the prices normally charged by stores which carry similar cards.

"The only difference is that the proceeds go to the American Cancer Society rather than an individual businessman," they said. Half of the sale price goes for the purchase of the cards, the other half is given to the cancer drive.

Last year's sale the local chapter to contribute nearly $800.

The sale last year was very successful and generated some $800 for the organization. The cards, over 350 in all, can be found in every price range and are in boxes of 25 each.

They may be seen by contacting Mrs. Rice at 335-4477 or Mrs. Heinz at 335-0265. The cards will also be displayed in the office of Dr. Joseph Herbert, 314 E. Court St.

The delivery time for the cards is two or three weeks so residents who would like to support the work of the cancer society by purchasing cards are urged to place their order as soon as possible.

New Zealand chief in hospital

WELLINGTON, New Zealand. (AP) — Norman E. Kirk, prime minister of New Zealand, has entered a Wellington hospital after being ordered to rest for six weeks. It was not known how long he will remain hospitalized.

The only bulletin issued so far says that Kirk suffers from persisting symptoms similar to those which forced him to rest for two weeks in May after an operation for varicose veins.

At that time, a blood clot settled in his right lung, giving rise to a condition similar to pneumonia. Ten days ago Kirk contracted what was diagnosed as gastric influenza.

School talks on again

By The Associated Press

Striking teachers and the Gallia County Board of Education were to return to the bargaining table today in an effort to settle a contract dispute that halted the start of classes for 3,000 pupils in 11 rural schools.

Some 160 teachers set up picket lines Tuesday, opening day of classes in the county.

A spokesman for the Gallia County Local Teachers Association said four months of talks, which broke off Saturday, had failed to produce agreement on severance pay, personal leave, salaries, hospitalization insurance and supplemental duty pay.

Meanwhile, more than 60 teachers in East Canton have given the school board until Monday to provide an acceptable agreement or face a walkout.

The teachers were offered a salary package of less than $7,000 annually. They are seeking a compromise base salary of $7,350, which the board has rejected, saying it doesn't have the funds.

Money Does Matter . . .

By Robert E. Harper

IT'S JUST A MATTER OF DEFINITION . . .

Whatever they are called, "Savings Accounts" are just that in any Bank, a most convenient tool for anyone to use in saving money and, depending on the nature of the account, for earning interest money.

"Passbook" Savings, just deposit $1 or more, receive a passbook, and present it whenever adding to or withdrawing from the account. At specified intervals interest will be added to the account and, in some cases, the amount added is greater if one agrees to leave money on deposit for a specified length of time.

"No-Passbook" Savings - just simply a passbook is not needed. Periodic statements are issued which show deposits, withdrawals, interest added.

"Certificates of Deposit" - usually used when one has large sums of money to deposit for a specified period of time it is agreed the money will remain on deposit.

They'll Do It Every Time

THE BETTER HALF

Court sets no action on Levitt

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb said he plans no further action against state Rep. Robert E. Levitt, R-70 Canton, after Levitt forfeited a $300 bond for failure to appear in court.

Levitt was due in court last week after he was charged with driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest June 11 on U.S. 23 in Pickaway County. He had requested a jury trial scheduled for Aug. 22.

The judge said Levitt's bond forfeiture and loss of his driving license for six months was punishment enough without any time in jail.

The state attorney general's office said the penalty for the drunken driving charge—a first-degree misdemeanor—was a minimum of three days in jail which cannot be suspended, or up to six months in prison and $1,000 fine.

William F. Duckworth, a Columbus attorney on contract with Circleville as city solicitor, said he planned no action. "The court has bond forfeited and I'm not going against it," he said.

The state Bureau of Motor Vehicles received Levitt's license to drive an automobile July 24 after he refused to submit to a chemical test to check his sobriety, records show.

His license will be withheld until Dec. 16.

Ohioan sentenced for bank robbery

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—James Herman White, 28, of Cleveland, Ohio, has been sentenced to 25 years in federal prison on a charge of bank robbery.

White pleaded guilty to the Aug. 5 robbery of the Montgomery Branch of the American Bank of Commerce in Albuquerque. Authorities said $2,578 was taken.
